

Theodore H. Sprink

Biographical Summary

Theodore H. Sprink is Senior Vice President of Fidelity National Financial, Inc., and National Marketing Director of Fidelity's UCC Insurance & Risk Management Division.

One of the original strategists for developing the UCC insurance value proposition for the Mezzanine, Risk Management, Asset Based Lending and Asset Backed Securitization market segments, Sprink directed the introduction of the concept to the national commercial finance markets and legal communities, a product line in which orders have exceeded $400 Billion in less than 5 years.

His experience includes a number of years at California based HomeFed Bank, where he served initially as Senior Vice President and later as Chief Executive Officer of HomeFed Corp, the parent company, and its two wholly owned real estate development subsidiaries.

He was an analyst for the Dun & Bradstreet Corporation, a senior officer for Torrey Pines Bank and a senior executive for the National Association of Credit Management. He also spent two seasons as the Director of Executive Sales & Marketing for the NFL's San Diego Chargers Football Club.

Mr. Sprink has been an active participant as an Advisory Board Member of the Education Foundation of the Commercial Finance Association, and has been affiliated with the American Bankers Association, the American Marketing Association, the Risk Management Association and the American Securitization Forum.

He was also a founding board member of the San Diego Bankruptcy Forum, a work-study group comprised of bankers and lawyers. A graduate of San Diego State University, Mr. Sprink resides in San Elijo Hills, California.